BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1951

VOL. 60 — NO. 50

Observations...

By UDELL

Bay St. Louis seems to be on the March. In a recent issue of the Mississippi Business Review, it was reported that general business activity in the city, for October 1951 was up 13.2 per cent over that of October 1950. But, along with this increase in business, the report also showed an increase in money orders for the community. An increase of 10.4 per cent shows that a lot of money that could be spent to build a bigger and better Bay St. Louis is going to build other cities. We should all try to work toward keeping our money at home where it will work for us and do the most good. Let's make that our goal for 1952.

Our fair city has a nonagenarian in the person of Mr. Archie R. Hart. Mr. Hart, who celebrated his ninety-third birthday Sunday, December 9, can be seen every day walking to the post office or, in good weather, sitting on his front porch. Our distinguished resident, who has lived here for 64 years, was a publisher and publisher of the Gulf Coast Progress for 23 years; he and Mrs. Hart celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary November 26. Here's wishing Mr. Hart many more happy years and may he live to celebrate a full century of life here with his friends and beloved wife.

Saw in an editorial in the NEW ORLEANS ITEM of December 12 that Jimmy Roos, our good friend and neighbor, who has a summer home in Clermont Harbor, has recommended for 1952 a scale of pay raises for members of New Orleans police force, that would go a long way toward bringing that City, which has the lowest paid force of any City in the country, up to the national average. Mr. Roos is chairman of the Police Advisory Board. With the increased cost of living, a salary of $220 a month doesn't go very far. Maybe that's why officers can overlook so much of the crime going on in the South's famous City.

The Bay St. Louis Teen-Age Club will sponsor their second annual Harvest Ball Saturday, December 15, at 8:00 p. m. in the Youth Center. Everyone is invited to attend. Admission will be 75¢ for non-members and $1.25 per couple for non-members, 50¢ per member and $1.00 per couple for members. While on the subject of the Teen-Age Club, this organization is collecting old toys to be refinished and distributed to the needy on Christmas. Wouldn't you like to make some child happy on Christmas morning? All it takes is a little time to go over discarded toys around the house and contacting Mrs. B. R. Nobles, Gregory Favre, Gerald Gex or Mrs. Laurent Ker-gosien.

Inflation has finally hit the penny postcard. When January 1 comes rolling around, we won't be able to get down those little hellos and all important messages and have them safely delivered for a penny. It will cost two cents for what we may still call a "penny postcard." Congress says that the Post Office has been delivering the one cent postcards at a cost of over two cents. Now, according to this new increase, the more postcards you send after January, the more it will cost you. For example, 49 cards will cost $1.98, but 50 cards will cost $2.20. Just think, that one extra card will cost 22 cents. This is due to a little gimmick in the law that says quantities over 50 will cost two cents each plus 10 per cent surcharge. meaning extra. Businesses have been using over 85 per cent of postcards for just plain advertising and Congress think that anyone using 50 will be using them for business purposes and can afford the increase. This may appear to be fair and reasonable to Congress, but the fellow who has to pay the extra 22 cents for the little postcard may not think so.

The monument erected on the lawn of the Hancock County Courthouse in memory of the late Forster Commagere has been beautified by his friends. Shrubbery has been planted around the memorial which will be dedicated in the near future.

Kern's is going to hold open house for the late residents of Bay St. Louis, Monday, December 17, from 5:30 to 8:00 p. m. so that they may shop without the interference of their fairer partners. Coffee and fruit cake will be served by attractive hostesses, and an entrance prize will be awarded.

ARRESTS NEGRO FOR ROBBERY

A young Negro resident of Bay St. Louis is being held on charges of burglary, Constable Gerald V. Price announced this week.

According to Price, Cooper "Junior" Dawsey entered the home of William Bibb, 255 Washington, Monday, December 10, around 9:00 p. m. and took a clock off the premises. The Constable said that Bibb returned to his home and found the glass on the front door broken in, and, apparently, the arresting officer said, Dawsey was still in the house when the owner arrived; because a number of other valuable articles remained untouched.

By the time, Bibb notified officers and they returned to the house, Dawsey had fled; but, the next day he pawned the clock at a local jeweler's who notified the officer of the transaction immediately. According to Constable Price, he picked up Cooper.

Mrs. Lucien M. Gex, chairman of the local Red Cross Blood Program Committee expressed appreciation today to the 83 donors who gave a pint of blood Tuesday, December 11, when the Red Cross bloodmobile visited Hancock County, and to the many others who volunteered but were unable to contribute because of illness.

"The spirit of cooperation which is so characteristic of our community has been amply demonstrated by the individuals and groups who responded so generously to this humanitarian project. I can think of no greater reward for these citizens who donated blood than the thought that their gift may be used to save the life of one of their friends or neighbors here at home," Chairman Gex said.

In acknowledging the chapter's gratitude to these citizens who volunteered to give blood but were temporarily unable to do so because of colds or other minor ailments, she said, "We greatly appreciate the expressed desire of these people to help and hope they will be able to donate when the bloodmobile next visits Hancock County."

At the same time Chairman Gex paid tribute to the large staff of volunteers who assisted with the work in the temporary blood center. The smooth manner in which the center was operated was largely due to the efficiency of the Red Cross volunteer groups, she said.

"We are most grateful for the large turnout of donors. It is gratifying to know that our citizens are behind this far-reaching program, which has been designed for the saving of lives. Blood collected here will be for the benefit of patients in our community hospital. There will be absolutely no charge for blood, but there may be the customary laboratory fee of the local hospital and the professional fee of the physician administering the blood. At any rate, citizens of Hancock County should be able to sleep better knowing that whole blood and its derivatives are available in case of emergency."

Chairman Gex pointed out that plans are already under way for another visit to Hancock County. "The Red Cross National Blood Program is a continuous one," she said, "and it is our hope that donors will make it a habit to give a pint of blood at regular intervals."

Who Is State's Outstanding Man?

Who is Mississippi's outstanding young man of 1951?

That's the question being asked by the Mississippi State Junior Chamber of Commerce as they start their fourth annual quest for the young Mississippian who has contributed the most to his state and community.

Nomination blanks have been mailed to every community in the state with the request that nomination be made of any young man between the ages of 21 and 35, inclusive, who has been an outstanding example of young leadership. A panel of judges will select one of those nominated and the State Jaycees will present him with their Distinguished Service Award. Deadline for receiving nominations is January 7th. Announcement of the winner will be made on February 2.

"Every community in the state has at least one outstanding young man," according to V. A. Liberto, Laurel, State Jaycee Chairman.

"The purpose of this program is to provide an opportunity for each community to recognize its outstanding young man by nominating him for the state award. If you have such a young man in mind in your community, contact your local Jaycee President, or write to Mississippi Jaycees, P. O. Box 1201, Jackson, for nomination blank."

Past winners of the State Jaycee award include, Harry Clark, West Point; Bruce Aultman, Hattiesburg; and Louis Spencer, Greenwood.

PASS CHRISTIAN NEWS

by MRS. JOE ALLEN

Rotary Club Wants Xmas Fund Help

This year approximately 150 persons are looking to the Pass Christian Rotary Club for dolls or toys to make happy the hearts of children who may not otherwise get an answer to their letters written to Santa Claus.

Working on the doll and toy fund are Rev. Willis Gaylord Clark, Rev. William S. Allen and Floyd Brainard. A donation addressed to any of these men for use in their campaign will be greatly appreciated. Most of the names on the Rotary Club Christmas list are young children; however there are a few aged persons whom the club would like to remember.

Needless to say, the time for giving is running short and the sooner contributions are sent in the better.

ROBERT BUIE LIVING HERE

Robert Buie, a young writer, has taken an apartment in Pass Christian where he spends much of his time writing.

EURODA WELTY AND ELIZABETH BOWEN ENTERTAINED HERE

Miss Elizabeth Spencer and Mrs. B. E. Christovich, who is President of the Town Library, entertained distinguished guests here recently.

The visitors were Eudora Welty, well known writer, and who will be especially remembered as the author of "The Golden Apple," "Delta Wedding" and "The Green," and Elizabeth Bowen, one of the most distinguished British novelists living today, and known in private life as Mrs. Alan Charles Cameron. Some of Miss Bowen's best known books, "The Heat," "The Death of the Day," and "The Heat of the Day," are frequently borrowed from our town library. While the British claim Miss Bowen, she was actually born in County Cork, Dublin, Ireland. Her London home is in Regent's Park. Miss Spencer, who lives in Pass Christian, is a writer of novels and short stories. She is Mississippi born, coming from Carrollton.

The truck will go from the station up Davis Avenue to the Beach and proceed down the beach to Market street, from Market down Second street and from Second street all the way to the ball park where he will distribute favors to all the children.

In former years Santa threw favors from the truck. But this year he thinks it will be best to wait until he gets into the park to distribute favors.

The Lions Club and Santa Claus extend hearty good wishes to everyone for a Merry, Merry Christmas and a New Year filled with health and happiness.

Episcopal Bazaar Nets Over $1000

Mrs. C. D. Taylor Sr., president of the Saint Monica Circle of the Trinity Episcopal church, and Mrs. Paul Torgeson, president of the Saint Cecilia Circle, have announced that the profit of "over a thousand dollars" was realized from the Bazaar given jointly by the circles last Saturday in the Trinity Episcopal Parish house.

Exact figures of the net profit are not immediately available since some last minute sales made have not yet been tabulated and some few minor expenses have not been figured. The bazaar's success insures a wholesome church year for 1952, and the circle presidents give much credit to committee chairmen and their co-workers.

Among the committee chairmen were: Mrs. Roy Moffitt, who headed the post-office booth; Mrs. Paul Torgeson, toy table; Mesdames Tom Parker, John M. Parker, Marshall Frye, Donna Beard and Ben McMath, Christmas decorations booths; Mrs. Warren Adam, cakes and pies table; Mrs. Ripley, gift and fancy work booths; and Mrs. Harry Hilzlm, White Elephant table.

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

W. F. Bond, Commissioner State Department Public Welfare

Very likely the best friends in the official family of the state children in distress have are our Chancery and County Court Judges, made up of 15 Chancery Judges and 13 County Judges. It is the duty of these officials as Youth Court Judges to see that every child in need of a friend has the very best chance possible to enable it to grow up to be a well trained, law-abiding, God fearing citizen. If it were not for the intelligent, unselfish service these officials render every year, hundreds of unfortunate children would be denied a decent chance even to help themselves during the years every child needs a guiding hand.

It is a pleasure for representatives of the welfare department to work with these public officials in behalf of better things for children in need of help, for it seems that such children do not have too many friends at the present time. They cannot speak for themselves and cannot vote now but they will be voters within a few years and thus will help to determine the future welfare of our State and Nation.

HOME AGENT'S NOTES

Home Agent Gives Gift Suggestions

By MISS MADGE ALLRED

If you are still undecided about a gift for some of the folks on your Christmas list, why not make a gift for them. The handsome gift usually costs less. You can so often use material you have. And the one who receives a hand-made gift really values it for it shows thought and time and talent you put into the gift.

Your own embroidery designs add a special personal touch to any hand made gift.

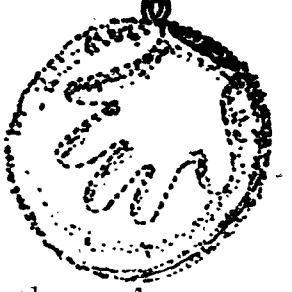

With only a little over a week before Christmas, you don't have too much time to make gifts. I know. But there are some suggestions that you can complete in a little time.

It's a safe bet any little girl will consider it a "Merry Christmas" if she gets a brand new wardrobe for doll. You can make them from pieces from the scrap bag.

Your scrap bag will yield the material often, too, for stuffed dolls and animals that are favorites with the smallest boys and girls.

Don't forget the possibilities of flour and feed sacks. They make grand aprons, tea towels, lunch-eon sets, curtains, blouses and shirts for the men folk, brunch-coats and house coats.

SHAMPOO MITT

To make a shampoo mitt you will need 12 x 148 inches or 24 x 24 inches of brightly colored terry cloth (you might have a towel you could use), chalk, matching thread and a bone ring. Spread cloth on a flat surface. Use a plate (at least 2 inches wider diameter than span of hand to be fitted) as pattern. Place it, face down, on cloth, and trace 4 circles with chalk. Allow an inch between circles markings. Cut out circles, allowing 1/2 inch margin outside chalk line for seams. Place 4 circles together and machine-sew them, using chalk line as guide. Leave a 4 or 5 inch opening on seam for mitten cuff. Hem the cuff edges by hand, 2 sides together, and turn mittens right side out. Baste to hold smooth.

Using hand as pattern and allowing 1/2 inch on both sides of fingers and 3/4 inch on both sides of wrists, trace shape of palm and wispread fingers on mitt. Pin cloth together securely and machine-sew along traced lines.

Sew a bone ring to the corner of each cuff opening, so mitts can be hung up to dry. Monogram for personal touch.

YARN DOLL

All you need to make a Yarn Doll pictured in this column are one 4-inch hank or skein of knitting worsted (pink is a good color, but you choose the one you like), a half yard of matching satin ribbon 1/2 inch wide, a few strands of blue yarn for eyes, red yarn for nose and mouth.

The work consists of little more than cutting, braiding, tying and snipping the ends. The final touch is embroidering features in horizontal stitches of yarn; for each eye stitches of blue; 2 tiny red stitches makes each nostril; red mouth curves up in a smile. at one end; remove 3 strands to use as ties.

First, cut all strands of skein. Second, tie the bundle of yarn 2 1/2 inches from doubled end, again 3 inches farther down.

Next, at each side separate a batch of yarn, braid 5 inches, tie wrists, cut off ends. fourth, tie waist 3 1/2 inches be-

LIGHT HASTENS BUD FORMATION ON CAMELLIA PLANTS

Long-Day Treatment May Be Useful For Camellia Breeders. And Nurseriesmen, Experiment Station Studies Indicate

State College, Miss.—Camellia plants have responded to long-day treatments by producing more and earlier flower buds and more twig growth in studies conducted by the Mississippi Agricultural Experiment Station. While the early-formed buds have not produced early flowers under the test conditions, the long-day treatment may prove useful to camellia growers in hastening plant growth and increasing flower production.

The study which produced these results was conducted by Dr. E. W. Elwee at State College from January, 1950 to March, 1951, to determine the influence of day length and also light intensity on the growth and flowering of the camellia. Day length was controlled by using electric lights to lengthen the day, and black shading cloth to shorten it. Variations in light intensity had little effect on the flowering camellias although low light intensity produced more twig growth and larger leaves.

Under the long day treatment flower buds were initiated by low neck; divide yarn, braid legs 10 inches, tie, cut.

And finally, cut through loops of yarn at top of head and trim. Tie sash around waist.

March 9 on twigs that began growth on February 9. Plants grown under short days until July 16 and under long days after that date developed flower buds by September 17 on new growth produced in late July and August under the long days.

Flower buds formed in July and August developed rapidly and flowered at approximately the same time as those formed in March. Flower buds formed in March developed slowly until August, then the rate of development increased. "Even when grown under identical soil, water and temperature conditions, it appears that some factor or factors other than day length influence the rate of development of the camellia flower." Dr. Elwee explained. Camellia breeders may use it to hasten the flowering of seedlings and breeding stock. Commercial nurserymen may find it useful in setting bulb early on young stock of rare varieties before the plants are transferred to the fields or beds. Long-day treatment might also be useful in early spring when quick twig growth of young stock is more desirable than slower, but more economical growth."

Trees Need
NOT be Hoarded

Trees need not be hoarded to be saved for the future. They are the world's largest plants . . . and, like all plants, they reproduce and grow.

The rapidly developing science of forestry has found, in the last few decades, practical ways of harnessing this capacity of nature to replenish and hasten forest growth. Today an increasing number of professional foresters is being employed by the forest industries to put this knowledge to work on the land.

Good forest practice . . . and we use it in our woods . . . makes possible the full use of timber resources today and provides for new trees to grow again for tomorrow.

PMA Reminds Farmers To File Annual Report

Along with "only so many shopping days left before Christmas" farmers of Hancock County are reminded today by Fitzhugh Lee, Chairman of the Hancock County PMA Committee, that they have only a few more working days left to send in performance reports on practices carried out on their farms during 1951.

The expiration date to report performances on basic slag, superphosphate, potash and lime is December 31, 1951, says Chairman Lee.

If you have spread all of the minerals, please send in the performance report immediately. "If the minerals have not been spread," Lee added, "please spread as soon as possible and send in your performance report. In no case, may the time be extended beyond December 31, 1951."

Minerals bought this year, with PMA assistance, may not be held over and applied to pasture or cover crops in 1952, unless they are transferred to the 1952 Program and come out of the farmer's 1952 allowance, the chairman continued. Many farmers have already used up their 1952 allowance on cover crop and pasture grass seed and a transfer cannot be made. Therefore all minerals and lime must be spread in 1951 and performance reported, by December 31, 1951.

If the farmer has lost his copy of the performance report, he can make his report by going to the County PMA office located in the K. C. Building on Main Street at Bay St. Louis, and sign the office copy.

Remember farmers, you have until December 31, 1951, to make your performance report on Superphosphate, Potash, Basic Slag and Lime.

County Agent's Notes PLAN ORCHARD

By JAMES TOLER

BEEF CATTLE MANAGEMENT PROSPECTS

Cattle producers can look forward toward an expensive winter feeding period due to inadequate grazing crops and feed supplies. This is due primarily to the extreme drought of the past summer.

Management, however is partly responsible for the condition in that cattle numbers have been allowed to increase faster than pastures and feed supplies. The buying of high priced feed during the coming winter is expected to cut down on the profits of new producers.

Cattle are heavy consumers of grazing. It is recommended that three acres of fertile land be set aside and planted to pastures for each brood cow. About three times as much grazing in the fall than in the spring due to low with a small house. His wife and children presented him with a wallet and other gifts.

moisture content and high temperatures.

In order for cattle to make money for the producer, plenty of grass, hay and silage are necessary.

ORCHARD
What to plant? A complete home orchard in any section of the state can and should include re-wines, pears, plums, apples, bunch grapes, figs, persimmons, pecans, strawberries, boysenberries, and young berries.

When to Plant. Now is the time to set most fruit trees and grape vines. While these can be planted satisfactorily any time during the dormant season, it is better to plant them in the late fall or early winter. If set during November, December or January, they stand a better chance of survival.

Value. A well planned, properly managed home orchard, one-half acre large, should produce at least $300.00 worth of fruit a year. With modern methods of canning, abundant harvests of good years can be preserved against poor years.

For more information on planting and care of home orchard, see your county agent for a copy of the "Garden, Fruit and Flower Guide," the Mississippi Spray Calendar or any additional information that he may have.

ORCHARD INSECT CONTROL
Why? Good fruit requires healthy trees. Peaches, plums, and apricots should be sprayed for scale and treated for peach borers during the winter.

Peach tree borers are one of the worst pests of the home orchard. They can be controlled, at small cost by using an ethylene dichloride emulsion. If used carefully, this is safe for trees of all ages. Apply during any warm spell in the fall or winter. For best results, apply in fall.

This emulsion can be bought from insecticide dealers or seed dealers.

Directions for use and diluting are printed on container.

No preparation of soil is necessary on loose level ground. However, in some cases it may be necessary to cup the soil at the base of the trees, slightly toward the tree trunk to prevent the liquid from running off. Four or five inches of mulch around the base of the tree, but not touching the trunk, then cover it up with soil.

WE'll put it up to you! There must be plenty of good reasons why more people buy Chevrolets than any other car.

Here are some things to think about:

There's the way Chevrolet looks. Nice clean, curved lines—like cars in the high-price field! Chevrolet's Body by Fisher sets the pace among low-priced cars.

There's the way Chevrolet rides and handles. The smoothness and big-car comfort of Uni-tized Knee-Action. Bigger brakes—biggest in the field—for safer, surer stops. Finest no-shift and standard, driving at lowest cost with Power-glide or Synchro-Mesh transmission.

There's the way Chevrolet saves. Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in the field and the savings go on and on with low operating costs.

There are plenty more reasons why Chevrolet is America's favorite. Come in and let us show them to you.

Why SPEED to DESTRUCTION

MISSISSIPPI SAFETY COUNCIL

Pay attention to your driving if you don't want to be "one in a million."

As the nation neared the millionth traffic fatality, now due mathematically in the third week in December, the National Safety Council said the vigilance and attention of drivers is the best hope of postponing it.

"Behind nearly every cause listed in the usual accident report—speed too fast for conditions, ran off roadway, ignored traffic signal, or what have you—there is inattention," said Ned H. Dearborn, Council president. "If the motorist had been paying attention to the very serious business of driving in modern traffic, chances are he wouldn't have gotten into an accident situation."

The Council said attention is the basic ingredient of "defensive driving"—a safety creed the Council has promoted successfully among truck bus and other professional drivers.

Here is how the Council says defensive driving can keep you from being "one in a million":

1. Ignorance of the law is no excuse. Know and obey all laws, signs and signals.

2. Know the condition of your vehicle. Regularly check lights, brakes, horn, windshield, wipers, rear view mirrors, tires and steering.

3. Never be distracted from the job of driving by scenery, billboards, people on sidewalks, daydreaming, conversation or lighting a smoke.

4. Give pedestrians the right of way, and be cautious when passing safety zones, school zones, playgrounds, residential areas where children are playing, and parked cars.

5. Enter traffic cautiously from parking spaces, alleys, driveways or side roads.

6. Even though you have the legal right-of-way, always yield if there is any question about the other driver's intentions.

7. Always regulate your speed to the condition of your car, the road, traffic and weather conditions.

8. Keep plenty of distance between you and the car ahead—at least one car length for every 10 miles of speed. The driver ahead may have to veer or stop suddenly.

9. Think ahead for turns. Get in the proper lane at least 150 feet ahead, signal your intent and slow down gradually.

10. In passing, make sure the driver ahead knows your intention, ease out gradually until you are sure there is enough clear distance ahead and don't cut back until you can see the passed car in the rear view mirror.

11. Weaving from one lane to the other on multiple lane roads is dangerous. Stay in one lane as much as possible, signal any changes and use the rear view mirror to keep an eye on following traffic.

12. At rail crossings, never depend entirely on watchman, gates or automatic signaling devices. Use your eyes and ears.

13. Reduce speed at night so that you can stop within the range of your headlights. Use the lower beam when approaching vehicles.

COUNTY SEAL SALE INCREASES

The people of Hancock County who have purchased Christmas Seals are actively supporting research projects against tuberculosis being carried on throughout the nation, according to Dr. Robert E. Schwartz, President of the Mississippi Tuberculosis Association, who said today that the county's 1951 Seal Sale through Friday, December 7, now totals $236.50. All citizens who have not bought their Christmas Seals are urged to do so because of the great need for funds with which to combat tuberculosis.

"It is impossible to over-emphasize the importance of research in the battle against tuberculosis," Dr. Schwartz said. "Research gave us the knowledge that tuberculosis is caused by a germ, that it is spread from person to person, that it is not inherited. Research led to the discovery and development of the X-Ray which is today a valuable aid in finding and diagnosing tuberculosis. More recently, research has resulted in the discovery of drugs which have proven valuable in treating certain types of Tuberculosis."

"But tuberculosis is a tough and stubborn foe," Dr. Schwartz stressed, "and we have still a great deal to learn about the germ which causes the disease and how it can best be combatted. Medical research is seeking to find the answers to the many problems which must be solved if we are ever to conquer this disease."

"A portion of every Christmas Seal Sale dollar goes to research on tuberculosis. This research is
